Educational Plant Maintenance Association of Maine

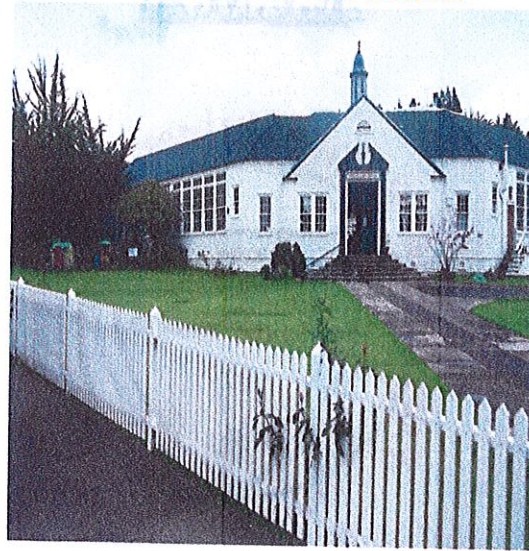

The E.P.M.A. was founded in 1961. It is a self-governing, educational society of persons who are seriously interested in quality performance in the fields of maintenance, operations, custodial, and management in the public educational environment.

The E.P.M.A. is dedicated to improving standards of plant custodial workmanship. The organization strives for such standards and for the professional development of interested persons.

The association provides training and instruction to all individuals employed in the fields of educational plant custodial or maintenance services, or operations management.

The group's members continually introduce new and improved methods and materials to those responsible for maintaining, upgrading and expanding our educational environment. E.P.M.A. works with other organizations that offer improved, advanced work procedures. The organization is dedicated to providing improved ways to achieve one's goals and then helping to set higher goals.

Why Join the E.P.M.A.?

- Get savings ideas that have already worked for others
- Experienced individuals help with renovating plans
- Have access to a support group to help with any problems at your facility
- Receive the proper training and education necessary to do your job effectively and efficiently
- Save money for your facility and find out what has worked for others who have faced the same situations you encounter daily
- E.P.M.A. will give you the help you need and lead you in the right direction to do things in a safe, effective way!
